MISSIONARY UPDATE

SAM AND JENNY HANSON
ACI INTERNATIONAL

Greetings ACC Family,
One of the things that I (Jenny) am passionate about is children...helping them understand how much God loves them and desires to be involved in their personal lives. I run a small kids club (20-30 kids) in Norias, a little town just three minutes away from our church and just outside our city. The small town struggles with drug and alcohol addiction, teen pregnancy, infidelity, low literacy rate, and poverty. About one third of the children that attend club struggle to read, or are reading below their grade level. Many children are raised by extended family, like Ximena, 11 years old, who also helps support her family by working in the summer as a waitress at a taco restaurant. Guillermina and her two children are faithful attendees. Guillermina has been a Christian for a few years, and is struggling to raise her children differently than others. Although she doesn't know much about the Bible, she tries to instill in her children respect for God and the importance of avoiding the ways of the world to avoid painful consequences. Guillermina stopped studying and started working when she was around 9 years old. Her hope is that her children can study more and have a better lifestyle.

Inés, an 8 year old, asked me one day if it was important to believe in God, my answer—YES! We have been going through the Old Testament this year, seeing how God was providing present hope for different people but at the same time promising that there is a much better hope and solution coming in the future—Jesus. I'm excited to see the children and the moms understanding our need for a Savior and how Jesus fulfills that need by his death and resurrection. An ACC Life Group gave some Bibles, books and toys to help us reach out more effectively to the families in Norias—Thank you!

Thank you so much for your prayers and giving to help spread God's light to people in desperate need of hope here in Aguascalientes, Mexico.
