MISSIONARY UPDATE

KATHERINE MOSHER
MISSION AVIATION FELLOWSHIP

Learning, Literacy, & the Gospel

With the school year beginning, education topics are always very prominent in my mind. My English and social studies students try their best to interpret and understand the world around through the written and spoken word. They have the benefit of books and other educational material to read in their own language and people to help them understand the information. This is not true in many parts of the world. There are an estimated 275 discreet languages in the provinces of Papua and West Papua alone, and very few of them are written or have the Bible in their own language.

Since 1965 MAF has partnered with other evangelical missions such as Wycliff and Ethos 360 in Papua to achieve the goal of complete Biblical literacy: a full Bible in every mother tongue in the province. The work is slow going as missionaries must first become a part of the community, learn the language, share the Gospel, mentor new Christians before even thinking about creating a written form of the language to translate to. It can take up to 30 years for one full Bible to come to print. But, it is a labor of love and necessity.

The year 2023 has seen many years of work by these missionaries come to fruition. No less than eight translations of either the New Testament, Old Testament, or the whole Bible have come to print. The Lord is at work and it is a privilege to be a part of it.

Prayer and Praise

- Please celebrate with me as these tribes receive the Word of God and pray as so many others have yet to be finished.
- Please give praise that a new school year has begun at Hillcrest International School and that students of missionary families that attend the school can receive a quality Christian education as their parents labor for the King.
- Please pray for the health of students as staff as we enter into the next part of the school year.
- Please pray for me as I teach my wonderful students and travel back to Salatiga to attend a board meeting for another missionary school in the area.

Blessings,
Katherine
